

One platform for all your banking operations

Finologee's Banking Orchestrator (BKO) is your single source of truth across every bank and account: all payments, statements, controls, and idle cash put to work.

Peppol e-invoicing ready. Native AI connector built in.

Why Finologee's Banking Orchestrator

Integrated with your systems

Connects to your existing systems, automatically feeding them with cash data and receiving payment instructions.

Securely automated flows

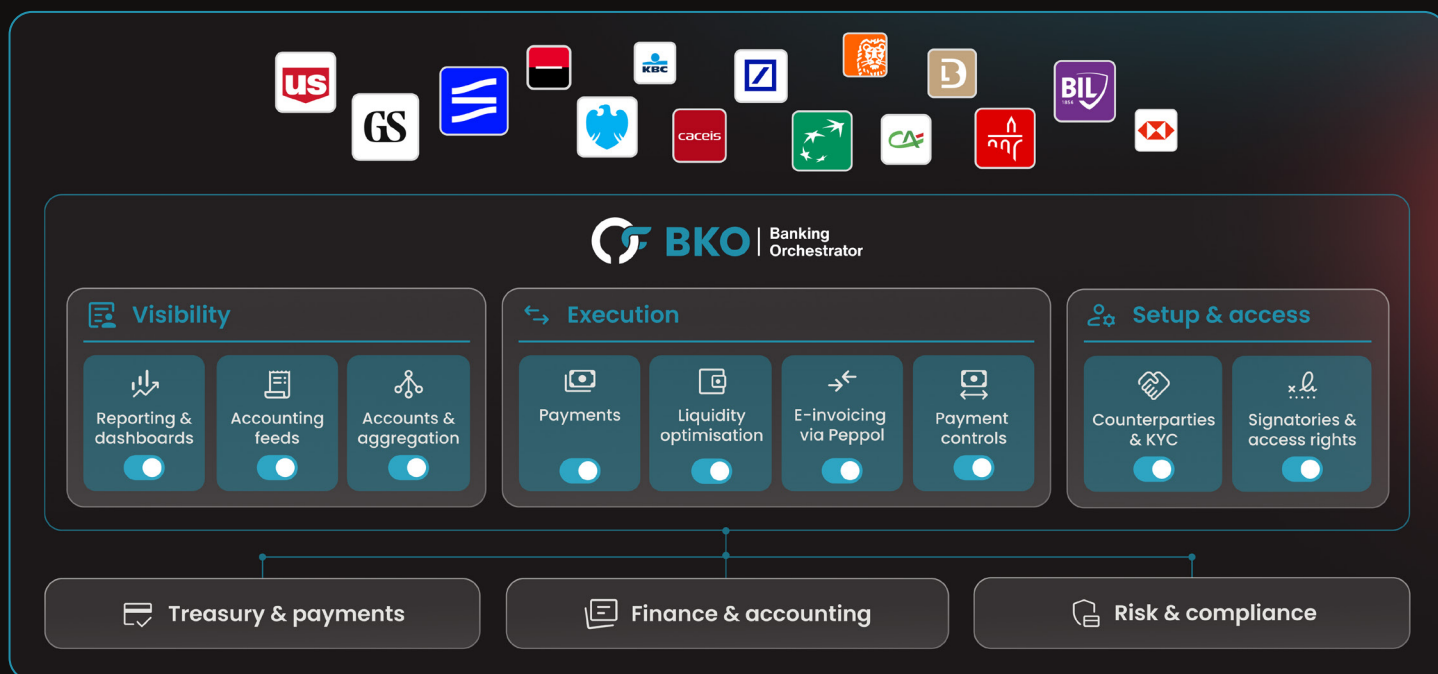

Payments sent out and statements collected automatically, rule-based cash management and native AI integrations.

Off-the-shelf connectivity

No SWIFT or EBICS setup or management on your side. Connect to virtually any bank through Finologee's own BIC.

Fraud prevention and control

Full control over signatory rights and approvals, defined, enforced and changed inside the platform at any time.

How it works

Your team works in Banking Orchestrator directly:
one secure portal to all key financial operations.

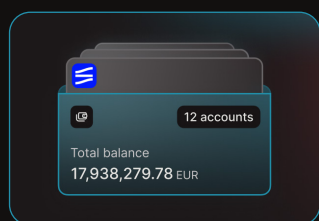

Built for the teams you run

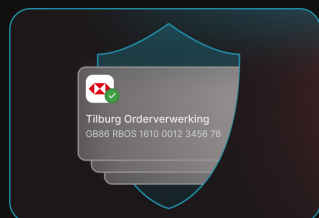

Treasury and payments

A single login across every bank. Initiate, approve and track payments over all your banking relationships, with balances live throughout.

Finance and accounting

Statements, reconciliation and accounting feeds run automatically, with structured data passed straight into your ERP and TMS.

Risk and compliance

Controls sit in the flow. Screening and approvals happen before any money moves, and audit evidence exports in minutes. Access rights are set by you, not by the bank.
